

For your health!

A circular inset image showing a woman with long brown hair, wearing a white top, lying in bed with white linens, resting her head on her hand and appearing to be asleep.

Regeneration
Fitness
Well-being

Your health is important to you?

Light is the foundation of all life.

Even a slight lack of light can have massive consequences for your health and well-being. Known examples include winter depression, vitamin deficiency (D3) or osteoporosis (bone atrophy). Just how important light is, not only for the whole body, but also for every single cell has only recently been confirmed by scientific studies. Above all, the body's own radiation plays an essential role in cell health.

A well-balanced diet and a healthy lifestyle cannot always guarantee that a person remains in top shape, with acute and chronic diseases potentially occurring. This adversely affects the light of the cells, and thus their radiation.

ifibr could be the solution for you

This is exactly where ifibr products can take effect. They are a unique combination of natural cotton and a newly developed high-tech fibre called Fibrilium. This fibre, obtained from an ancient South Korean healing clay, has had health-promoting properties attributed to it for generations.

How does ifibr work?

The special silicon crystals found in the therapeutic South Korean healing clay are refined via a patented nanotechnology process that transforms them into a fibre - the valuable Fibrilium.

This fibre reflects the body's own radiation, in the infrared range, to stimulate a faster regeneration and to enhance the well-being of the body. Therefore, making you feel more relaxed and giving you the ability to recover quicker in your sleep.

The result:

A newfound energy and quality of life for a productive and relaxed day!

Application

In order to make these positive features available for you, we have developed a variation of ifibr products. They consist of Fibrilium fibres that are woven into fabrics for an array of different purposes. For example, the ifibr mattress covers improve blood circulation through the reflection of the body's own high-energy radiation.

This results in an improved nutrient and oxygen supply and an increased removal of metabolic products via the lymphatic system, causing the entire organism to be positively influenced.

Holistic health encouragement in your sleep!

Special features at a glance:

- Consists of cotton (70%) and health-promoting high-tech Fibrilium (30%)
- Better regeneration during sleep
- Supports the immune system, whilst counteracting heat loss
- Well-being is enhanced by the reflection of the body's radiation
- Recovered radiation energy has a positive effect on the entire body
- Metabolism, as well as blood circulation and oxygen transport, is improved
- Health promotion
- Using ifibr positively affects cells
- Holistic product for increasing quality of life

ifibr Body-Wellness

90 x 200 cm

Auen-Süduferstraße 67 / A-9220 Velden am Wörthersee
Office: +43 (0) 4274 2821 / Fax: +43 (0) 4274 2821 4 / office@ifibr.com

www.ifibr.com

